

Philadelphia 2010 AAP Spring Salon

Giving and Receiving: The Dance of Mentors and Mentees

Please join us as we explore the dynamic of mentors and mentees (e.g., teacher/student, supervisor/supervisee, and therapist/client). Mentors and mentees both give and receive as they engage with each other, and that is the dance we want to focus on in this salon. Mentorship relationships can have both positive and negative qualities, and we want to look at both. Mentorship relationships are vital to the growth of the individual and of the profession. When we face a challenging client or clinical situation, who do we call upon literally or metaphysically to come to our assistance? How have these relationships influenced our practice of psychotherapy?

Co-Hosts: Matthew Leary, PhD and Diane Shaffer, MA

Date & Time: Sunday, April 11th from 1-4pm

Address: 308 Rutgers Avenue, Swarthmore, PA 19081

RSVP: Diane Shaffer (610) 283-0272

Please bring a light snack for the group to enjoy towards the end of the Salon

Salons are intimate gatherings intended to stimulate conversation, relationship and community. AAP is an organization dedicated to fostering the development of the psychotherapist at all levels...from graduate students to seasoned veterans. Membership is not required to attend. By exploring the relationship between ourselves and the art of psychotherapy, the intention is to appreciate and explore the complexity and the art of the process.
