

The Southern Region of
The American Academy of Psychotherapists

is proud to invite you to an evening salon and pot luck.

Unifying Difference and Dualism: Being and Becoming in Therapeutics and Performance

Murray Dabby, LCSW

In this salon, Murray will present thoughts on the intersection of performance, improvisation and psychotherapy, how that may look in practice and create some experiential moments for the group to explore these questions together.

Murray is a psychotherapist, practicing at the Atlanta Center for Social Therapy; associate faculty of East Side Institute for Group and Short Term Psychotherapy; trainer, teacher and performance activist in field of therapeutics and youth development; and cofounder of The Couples College and Curtain Up Anxiety Down.
